(International Theater Festival OKINAWA for Young Audience)

CALL FOR PARTICIPANTS

for Asian Artist in Residence Program

ricca ricca*festa (International Theater Festival OKINAWA for Young Audience) is an annual performing arts festival for children and young people which takes place in Naha City, Okinawa, Japan. Every summer, the festival presents outstanding productions from Japan, Asia and the globe.

As part of the festival program, ricca ricca*festa 2015 and the Japan Foundation Asia Center will conduct a short residency program for Asian artists who will be invited to see the plays and events at the festival, to learn about the latest situation in theater scene in each country in Asia with international experts, and to discuss about performing arts for children and young people in Asia from various angles.

The residency program expects the invited artists not to create a performance or a presentation, but to build a network with other participants and experts which might inspire you to start a new project at the end of the residency. The invited artists will also form a close relationship with the festival's future projects in which Asian multinational theater companies might be involved.

We hope this residency program will offer you inspiring stays and exchanges in Okinawa, Japan.
